Part Two

Ohio Dormant Mineral Act ("DMA")

VORYS

Higher standards make better lawyers.®

Background and History

- › The DMA is codified at R.C. § 5301.56.
- › The statute is part of the Ohio Marketable Title Act (“MTA”).
 - The MTA is codified at R.C. § 5301.47, et seq.
 - The legislative purpose of the MTA is to “simplify and facilitate land title transactions by allowing persons to rely on a record chain of title.”
 - The legislative purpose is accomplished by extinguishing certain ancient interests and defects that create a cloud on title.
- › The DMA became effective on March 22, 1989.
- › The DMA was amended on June 30, 2006 (and in 2013).

VORYS

Higher standards make better lawyers.®

© Copyright 2014, Vorys, Sater, Seymour and Pease LLP. All Rights Reserved.

Why was the MTA Amended to Incorporate the 1989 DMA?

- › In order to extinguish ancient interests and defects under the MTA, several statutory elements must be satisfied:
 - Claimant must have the legal capacity to own land in Ohio;
 - Claimant must have a “root of title;”
 - Claimant must have an unbroken chain of title to the “root of title;”
 - Interest/defect must predate the “root of title;” and
 - None of the statutory exceptions can apply.
- › Heifner v. Bradford (4 Ohio St.3d 49 (1983)) showed that, as to severed mineral interests, it is difficult to satisfy all of the statutory elements and extinguish ancient severed mineral interests.

How does the 1989 DMA further the MTA's Legislative Purpose?

- › A mineral interest held by any person, other than the owner of the surface of the lands subject to the interest, shall be deemed abandoned and vested in such surface owner if: (1) the mineral interests is not (a) in coal, or (b) held by the United States, State of Ohio, or any political subdivision/agency thereof, and (2) a “savings events” did not occur within the preceding 20 years.
- › The 2006 DMA defines “minerals” or “mineral interest” as follows:
 - “Mineral interest” means “a fee interest in at least one mineral regardless of how the interest is created and of the form of the interest, which may be absolute or fractional or divided or undivided.”
 - “Mineral” means “gas, oil, coal, coalbed methane gas . . .”

What are the “Savings Events” under the 1989 DMA?

- › Mineral interest has been the subject of a title transaction recorded in the county recorder's office in which the lands are located;
- › Actual production or withdrawal of minerals by the holder;
- › Mineral interest has been used in underground gas storage by the holder;
- › A drilling/mining permit has been issued to the holder, provided that an affidavit is recorded in the county recorder's office in which the lands are located;
- › A claim to preserve is recorded in the county recorder's office in which the lands are located; and
- › A tax parcel number has been created for the mineral interest.

Changes under the 2006 DMA

- › The 2006 DMA cleaned-up some of the issues surrounding the interpretation and application of the 1989 DMA, including the following:
 - Defined “minerals” and “mineral interest,” discussed, supra;
 - Clarified the 20 year look-back period;
 - Changed the procedure to abandon mineral interests; and
 - Provided holders of a mineral interest with an additional mechanism to prevent abandonment.

Changes under the 2006 DMA (cont'd)

- › The 20-year look-back period under the 2006 DMA is the 20 years immediately preceding the date on which a notice of abandonment is served on the holder of the mineral interest.
- › In order to abandon a dormant mineral interest, the surface owner must:
 - Serve a notice of abandonment upon the holder;
 - Record an affidavit of abandonment at least 30 days, but no later than 60 days, after the service of a notice of abandonment; and
 - Record a notice of failure to file after the expiration of the above 60- day period (assuming the holder does not file a claim to preserve or an affidavit in response to the notice of abandonment).
- › However, the holder of mineral interest may file either: (1) a claim to preserve or (2) an affidavit identifying the occurrence of a “savings event” within the 20 years immediately preceding the date the notice of abandonment was served, which will prevent abandonment.

 - The description shall include the volume and page number of the recorded instrument under which the surface owner claims title;
- › A description of the mineral interest to be abandoned.
 - The description shall include the volume and page number of the recorded instrument on which the mineral interest is based; and

Requirements for Affidavits of Abandonment

Requirements for Notices of Failure to File

- › A notice of failure to file can be recorded only if the holder of the mineral interest failed to file a claim to preserve or an affidavit identifying the existence of a “savings event” within 60 days of service of a notice of abandonment.
- › A notice of failure to file shall contain the following:
 - A statement that the person filing the notice is the owner of the surface of the lands subject to the mineral interest;

Issues Under and Surrounding the DMA

- › What is the applicable 20-year look-back period under the 1989 DMA?
 - The Seventh District Court of Appeals has held that the 20-year look-back period is “rolling,” which means that if there is any 20-year period from March 22, 1992 to June 30, 2006 where no “savings events” appear, then the mineral interest is abandoned.
 - However, the Supreme Court of Ohio’s decision in Corban v. Chesapeake, which is discussed, infra, now makes this issue moot.
- › Is the 1989 DMA self-executing (i.e., automatically transfers ownership of dormant mineral rights to the surface owner by operation of law)?
 - The Supreme Court of Ohio reached this issue in Corban v. Chesapeake, which is discussed, infra.

Issues Under and Surrounding the DMA (cont'd)

- › What does “subject of” a title transaction mean?
 - The Seventh District Court of Appeals has construed this language to mean that the grantor must be conveying or reserving the mineral interest.
 - Issue has not been decided by the Supreme Court of Ohio.
- › Is an oil and gas lease a “title transaction?”
 - Yes, per the Supreme Court of Ohio in Chesapeake v. Buell, 144 Ohio St.3d 1446 (2014).
- › Is the receipt of delay rental payments a “savings event?”
 - The Supreme Court of Ohio reached this issue in Corban v. Chesapeake, which is discussed, infra.

Issues Under and Surrounding the DMA (cont'd)

- › What version of the DMA applies to claims to abandon dormant mineral rights affected after the 2006 DMA’s effective date (i.e., June 30, 2006)?
 - The Supreme Court of Ohio reached this issue in Corban v. Chesapeake, which is discussed, infra.
- › What level of due diligence is required to locate the holder of the mineral interest and serve him with a notice of abandonment?
 - No reported case has yet decided this issue.
- › Under the 2006 DMA, must a claim to preserve that is filed in response to a notice of abandonment reference a “savings event” to be effective?
 - No, per the Supreme Court of Ohio in Dodd v. Croskey, 140. Ohio St.3d 1406 (2014). The claim to preserve must only satisfy the requirements of R.C. § 5301.56(C)(1).

Issues Under and Surrounding the DMA (cont'd)

- › Does the MTA still apply to severed mineral interests given the DMA's enactment?
 - The Seventh District Court of Appeals has held that the MTA no longer applies (Swartz v. Householder, 2014-Ohio-1243 (2014)).
 - Issue has not been decided by the Supreme Court of Ohio.

Questions Certified to Supreme Court of Ohio

- › Question One: Does the 2006 DMA or the 1989 DMA apply to claims asserted after June 30, 2006, alleging that the right to oil, gas and other minerals automatically vested in the surface owner prior to effective date of the 2006 DMA?
 - The Supreme Court of Ohio held that: (1) the 1989 DMA is not self-executing, and (2) the 2006 DMA applies to claims to abandon dormant mineral rights asserted after its effective date (i.e., June 30, 2006).

- › Question Two: Is the payment of delay rental during the primary term of an oil and gas lease a “savings event” under the DMA?
 - The Supreme Court of Ohio held that payment of a delay rental is not a “savings event” under the DMA.

Common Ohio Title Issues
Encountered relating to Trusts and
Probate Matters

Conveyance Into a Trust

- › Unless the trust is a business trust or real estate investment trust, it cannot hold title in its own name. A conveyance to a trust is invalid.
- › Ohio has a savings statute: R.C. § 5301.071(E)(1) - a conveyance to a trust is to be considered as a conveyance to the trustees of the trust if:
 1. The trust named as grantor or grantee has been duly created under the laws of the state of its existence at the time of the conveyance, and
 2. A memorandum of trust that (1) complies with R.C. § 5301.255 and (2) contains a description of the real property conveyed by that instrument is recorded.

Conveyance to an Undisclosed Trust

- › Example:
 - Conveyance 1: From X to Bob Hope, as Trustee.
 - Conveyance 2: From Bob Hope, Trustee to Y.
- › A conveyance to a grantee as “trustee” of an undisclosed trust, on a conveyance, without language showing that a trust exists, is insufficient to establish that a trust exist. R.C. § 5301.03.
- › Consequences:
 - Does not give notice to any person dealing with the land that a trust or agency exists or that there are beneficiaries other than the grantees.
 - As to all subsequent bona fide purchasers, mortgagees, lessees, assignees for value, the grantee takes free of any claims of undisclosed beneficiaries.

Conveyance by a Trustee of a Disclosed Trust

- › Example: From Bob Hope, Trustee of the Jay Leno Administrative Trust Dated November 30, 1985, to Y.
- › Need evidence of authority of the trustee to act on behalf of the trust.
- › Title Standards require that the following be recorded:
 - excerpts of the operative provisions of the trust agreement, together with an affidavit that it is a true copy of the text in the trust agreement, or
 - a memorandum of trust in conformity with the requirements of R.C. § 5301.255.
- › In practice, authority issues are limited by R.C. § 5810.12 (“a person other than a beneficiary who in good faith deals with a trustee is not required to inquire into the extent of the trustee’s powers or the propriety of their exercise”), but it is difficult for a title attorney to rely on this statute.

Dower

- › Dower in Ohio is very limited.
- › Surviving spouse is seized with a life-estate in one-third of the deceased (record-holder) spouse’s property. This applies to any property that the deceased spouse held during the marriage.
- › However, the dower interest terminates upon the death of the record-holder spouse except in two circumstances:
 1. Where the record-holder spouse conveyed the property during the marriage and the surviving spouse did not release dower.
 2. Where the property was affected by a mortgage or other encumbrance and the surviving spouse did not release dower.
- › Also terminates upon granting of absolute divorce, and certain other circumstances (adultery or waste).
- › Example: John acquires Blackacre. John marries Suzy. Suzy has a 1/3d dower right in Blackacre. If John conveys Blackacre during his life without Suzy releasing dower, Suzy will continue to have a dower right in Blackacre after John’s death.
- › Takeaway: the spouse must join in the execution of a deed or oil and gas lease.

Power of Attorney

- › Where an instrument is executed by a party acting as an attorney-in-fact for another, the authority of the attorney-in-fact (AIF) must be confirmed.
- › In Ohio, a power of attorney must be acknowledged and recorded.
- › Power of attorney must grant the authority to the AIF to undertake the transaction.

- › Default when the grant is ambiguous or lacks the form necessary to create another form of co-tenancy.
- › Each tenant holds an undivided interest. Generally, each tenant holds an equal share unless otherwise provided in the instrument creating the tenancy in common.
- › Each co-tenant has an equal right to use and possess the property.
- › One co-tenant cannot adversely possess against the other absent ouster.
- › Characteristics: descendible, devisable, and alienable, without other cotenant's consent.

Survivorship Tenancy (R.C. § 5302.20)

Characteristics of a survivorship tenancy

- Each survivorship tenant holds an equal share of the property during their joint lives.
- Upon the death of any of the survivorship tenants, title of the decedent vests proportionately in the remaining survivorship tenants, until only one survivorship tenant remains.
- NOT descendible, NOT devisable. But it IS alienable. A conveyance from less than all survivorship tenants to a person who is not a survivorship tenant vests title of to the grantee, conditioned on the survivorship of the grantor(s), and does not alter the title of any of the survivorship tenants who did not join in the conveyance.
 - › Example: A, B, and C, are survivorship tenants. A, without joinder from B and C, conveys to X. X is vested with A's title, which is only good as long as A survives B and C. If B and/or C should outlive A, X's is extinguished.
- A conveyance from ALL the survivorship tenants, or from all but one of the survivorship tenants to the remaining survivorship tenant, terminates the survivorship tenancy.

Characteristics of a survivorship tenancy [cont.]

- › Each survivorship tenant has an equal right to share in the use, occupancy, and profits.
- › Each tenant is also responsible for proportionate share of costs.
- › Each tenant can pledge his or her respective interest in the property.
- › A creditor of a survivorship tenant may enforce the lien against the other survivorship tenants by an action to marshal liens against the interest of the debtor(s).
- › Upon court's determination that a party has a valid lien against a survivorship tenant, title to the property becomes a tenancy in common. Court may then order a sale of the fractional interest of the lien debtor.
- › Divorce or annulment generally terminates a survivorship tenancy between married survivorship tenants.

Tenancy by the Entireties

- › Abolished on April 4, 1985.

- › If a tenancy by the entireties was created during that period, it will continue to be recognized today.

Transfer on Death Designation Affidavits (R.C. § 5302.22)

- › Property owner can designate through a transfer on death designation affidavit that real property transfers to a designated beneficiary or beneficiaries upon his death.
- › Property passes outside of probate.
- › The beneficiary of a transfer on death affidavit has no present interest in the property, and takes only the interest that the deceased owner of the interest held on the date of death, subject to all encumbrances, reservations, and exceptions.
- › Title subject to a transfer on death designation affidavit vests immediately upon the property owner's death.
- › Transfer on death designation affidavits cannot defeat a survivorship tenancy.
 - The death of all except the last survivorship tenant automatically terminates and nullifies any transfer on death beneficiary designations made by the deceased survivorship tenant(s).

 - The will does not prohibit the sale of real property.
- › If an executor/administrator lacks the testamentary power of sale, or cannot obtain the necessary consent to a power of sale, then the executor/administrator must petition the court for authority to sell the property.
